WELCOME! We want to welcome each one of you to services here at University, we are glad you are here and would invite you back to services the next time you are able. I want everyone to remember that you are here to play a vital roll in the work that continues to grow this congregation and for outreach to those out in our community. If you are visiting we are so glad you have come our way and would ask if you would remain after services so we might get the chance of meeting you in person and welcoming you here.

Over the past several weeks we have been looking at becoming a disciple of Jesus Christ. First we all must decide in our lives whether we want to follow Him or not and if we have made that decision we then start examining ways of how we walk with Him step by step and day by day. As we continue the challenge that has been set before us today we will be looking at what it means to LIVE for Christ. Paul uses the phrase "To live is FOR Christ and to die is gain." That seems so foreign to todays wisdom which teaches us to live for us and to die is loss. As many seek to save their lives living for every moment. And if we were to die it would be a total loss and then when Paul adds that he is torn about staying or leaving to be with Christ is far better. We don't want to give up our lives and what we have and still want to do and for us. Todays challenge will be asking the question who is my life for? Am I living for Christ? And if not who am I living for. Lets examine our hearts more internally as we all ask ourselves that question and when its all said and done can I say the life I live today is FOR Christ?

In Case You Missed It

Psalms 25:4-5

Make me know Your ways, O Lord; Teach me Your paths. 5 Lead me in Your truth and teach me, For You are the God of my salvation; For You I wait all the day

A father asked his son to carry a letter from their camp to the next village. He pointed out a trail over which the boy had never gone before. "All right Dad, but I don't see how that path will ever reach the town," "Well son, I'll tell you how. Do you see that big tree down the path?" "Oh, yes, I see that far." "Well, when you get there by the tree, you'll see the trail a little farther ahead — and farther down you'll get to another big tree — and when you reach that you'll be closer and so on until you get within sight of the houses of the village. "In the same way, I believe God wants to reveal the way for each one of us on our trails toward Him, one tree at a time. Sometimes we're convinced we need to see the end of our path, so that we can be reassured that there's something good down there, or that we're going in the right direction, or that we'll be able to see if it gets dark. We know first hand how it feels to walk in the darkness here in the Land and not know where the end will be — and often how we'll have the strength and sustenance to get there. It's not easy to move forward and trust that God will light the path ahead and point us in the way we should go. But the fact is that it is a crucial step toward our growth and maturity in the Lord and we all need to get there. Let's give our hesitation and fear to the Lord. He will not fail us. He will be faithful to light our path and lead us in the way everlasting — one tree or in our case one day at a time.
